Overview: Multi-Language Accounting Demonstration

Setup

This demonstration showcases the core financial processes within a multi-language accounting environment, utilizing two distinct sets of books to illustrate different stages of ledger entry:

1. Core Ledger Setup (MULTI-LANGUAGE-DEMO)

This set of books represents the underlying General Ledger (GL) structure with manually prepared entries:

- Opening Balances: Established for all accounts as of 2025/12/31 (currently Unposted, ready for finalization).
- Budgets: Comprehensive budget figures have been processed for the full financial period spanning 2026/01/01 to 2026/12/31.

2. Bank Import - Processed Bank Statement files (MULTI-LANGUAGE-DEMO-BANK-STATEMENTS)

This set of books contains the bank activity data, primarily used for automated bank reconciliation processes:

- Opening Balances: Established for all accounts as of 2025/12/31 (already Posted).
- Budgets: Comprehensive budget figures have been processed for the full financial period spanning 2026/01/01 to 2026/12/31.

3. OFC Bank Statement Transactions

Actual transactional data for the first quarter of 2026 has been prepared and imported using the Bank Import Plugin across the following accounts:

- Current Bank Account: Three monthly statements are processed: 2026-01-Bank-Statement.ofc, 2026-02-Bank-Statement.ofc, and 2026-03-Bank-Statement.ofc.
- Credit Card Account: One statement is processed for the second month: 2026-02-Bank-Statement-CreditCard.ofc.

Multi-Language Capability

A key feature of this demonstration is the extensive language support integrated into the system. In addition to the English language, you may open these two Sets of Books in 18 different languages.

Multi-Language Login Credentials

The key feature of this demonstration is the extensive language support. In addition to the English language, you may open these two Sets of Books in 18 different languages.

The user login details for accessing the system in each language environment are as follows:

2012-MULTI-ACCOUNT-DEMO

This demo serves as a specific, simpler example of the Multi-Language Accounts feature in osFinancials5/TurboCASH5-3, focusing on a basic two-language implementation (English and Afrikaans).

Here is the information structured for clarity:

2012 Multi-Account Demo Overview

The 2012-MULTI-ACCOUNT-DEMO is a simplified version based on two languages (English and Afrikaans) of the Multi-Language Accounts feature, based on the HANDYMAN-B Tutorial.

The primary purpose of this demo is to show how the system handles two distinct languages within the same Set of Books, demonstrating the feature's power at a basic level.

Multi-Language Feature Overview

(osFinancials5/TurboCASH5-3)

The Multi-Language Accounts feature in osFinancials5 and TurboCASH5-3 is a powerful tool designed to support international and multi-lingual environments directly within a single set of books. This capability is built upon a universal Firebird database type template in the demo, but is fully compatible with both MSSQL and Firebird database types in general use.

Core Functionality and Power

The primary strength of the Multi-Language feature is its ability to allow multiple users to work with and report on the same data using their preferred language.

- Direct Implementation: The Multi-Language feature can be implemented in your specific Set of Books, allowing immediate personalization and functional use.
- 19 Language Variants: The included MULTI-LANGUAGE-DEMO showcases the power of this feature by providing 19 language variants within the same Set of Books.
- User-Specific Language: Each user has the opportunity to print, preview, and export all reports and documents in the language they have set for their user profile.

- Consistent Financial Data: All transactional data processed in the Chart of Accounts is immediately reflected in the Financial Statements (Trial Balance, Income Statement, Balance Sheet, etc.) and is viewable in the Ledger Viewer 1 or Ledger Viewer 2, translated into the user's selected language.

Document Printing Flexibility

A key benefit of the Multi-Language structure is the flexibility to print documents in a different language, even for a normal Set of Books not using the Multi-Language Accounts feature:

- Supported Documents: You may print sales documents (Invoices, Credit notes, Quotes, and Delivery notes) and purchase documents (Purchases, Supplier returns, and Orders) in a language that differs from the system language.
- Debtor/Creditor Preference: This functionality is driven by the Debtor / Creditor form, where a user may select a different language.
- Automatic Translation: This selection tells the software to print the document layout files in that specific Debtor/Creditor's preferred language, automatically tailoring communication for international partners.

Ideal Applications

While no two Sets of Books are exactly alike, and the demo serves only as a guideline, the Multi-Language feature is ideal for several scenarios:

- Multi-Official Language Countries: It is perfect for countries with multiple official languages, such as South Africa (11 Official Languages), ensuring regulatory and internal reporting can be easily managed across linguistic groups.
- International Accounting: The feature allows you to produce Financial Statements in a language different from the one used for daily processing, facilitating compliance and communication with foreign stakeholders, auditors, or parent companies.

NOTES on Translation/localization of your selected language file

NOTES on Translation/localization of your selected language file

These notes highlight specific translation issues that need special attention within the translation/localization process.

LabelID - 1000000 The Master Language File

The first label in the language file, LabelID 1000000, serves as the file identifier and includes a critical instruction:

- Content Requirement: This translation must reflect the Language and Country using ISO codes (e.g., en-US).
- Mandatory Instruction: It must include the instruction: "Do Not Translate. To customize this language file, create a copy."

Label ID	English (Original)	Example (Customized)	P u r p o s e
1000000	English Master File - Do Not Translate	English Master File for English United States of America (en-US) - Do Not Translate. To customize this language file, create a copy.	I n c l u d e s t h

LabelID - 581 *Translate : Enter your details - You may enter your name

If you are customizing or localizing a language file for their town, language, country, or industry, you absolutely may add their name for credits or acknowledgement.

This practice is common in software localization, especially for community contributions, and is generally encouraged as it provides two key benefits:

- Acknowledgement and Credits: Adding your name (and perhaps contact information or organization name) serves as a way to receive credit for the significant effort involved in creating and maintaining the translation. If the localized file is ever shared or incorporated into future software releases, the credit ensures proper recognition.
- Source and Contact: Listing the creator's name makes it clear who the author and maintainer of that specific customization or localization is. This is helpful for:
 - Future Updates: If the software developer (osFinancials/TurboCASH) needs to contact the translator about updates, corrections, or merging the language file, they know exactly who to reach.
 - Support: Other users adopting the custom language file know who to contact if they find specific terms or phrases that need review or adjustment.

Dynamic Place holders

<@APPNAME@> there are 45 labels that include the <@APPNAME@> placeholder.

This dynamically inserts the application name (osFinancials or TurboCASH) based on the running version. Action: Do not translate the placeholder itself. Ensure the surrounding text flows naturally with the inserted application name.

- If you launch and opened a Set of Books in osFinancials5 , this will display osFinancials in the UI interface, and in labels and reports.
- If you launch and opened a Set of Books in TurboCASH5, this will display TurboCASH in the UI interface, and in labels and reports.

Unify button - Do not use the Unify button as this will change 3 legacy names of TurboCASH3 and 12 broken links to the turbocash.org website.

This is a standard programming placeholder for inserting variables (e.g., numbers, dates, strings) into the text.

- Action: Do not translate the %s placeholder. Make sure it is positioned correctly in the translated sentence where the variable should appear.

This setting must remain as LTR for all languages and should not be altered or translated.

3738 LTR

It is used exclusively to switch the display direction to RTL (Right-to-Left). This setting switches the display direction to RTL for languages such as Arabic, Hebrew, and others, ensuring proper mirrored layout support in osFinancials5/TurboCASH5-3.

Currencies

Amount in words

This printed when in options to Create receipts (Receipt journals lined to a Bank account and Receive payment option when processing open item transactions.

Critical for financial accuracy. The Main denomination) and Sub-denomination must correctly reflect the singular/base units of the currency (e.g., "Dollar," "Cent," "Euro," "Cents").

- Label 157 Main denomination of your currency e.g. Rand, Dollar, Euro
- Label 158 Sub-domination of your currency. e.g. Cents

Ensure these labels are translated with the singular forms of the main and sub-denominations.

Currency Symbol

1000003 $ the currency symbol of your country

Specific characters should be retained within Translations

- LabelID 20123 Filter (.flt)|.flt the Pipe character inside the file extension must be included as this may cause issues with dialog boxes.
- Quotation marks:Excessive may be generated when translating languages. These quotation marks within the original string are often part of the message's syntax or intended display, not just part of the sentence structure. These quotation marks should exactly retain the quotation marks (" or ') in your translation:

- 1122 "Price Name",Value
- 2808 Expected " or '

Specific translations for the Dutch market

Proof

What it is: A unique Dutch algorithm used to validate official numbers like Bank Accounts, Citizen Service Numbers (BSN), and formerly SOFI numbers. It checks if a number is valid, not just random digits.

11 Proof appears on the Accounting information tab of Debtor/Creditor accounts.

2208 11 Proof

2239 11 Proof

3087 Number %s is not a valid 11 proof number!

Arbitrair

What it is: In Dutch banking, this refers to a "variable" or "discretionary" payment amount. It's a field on payment forms where the amount isn't pre-printed or fixed, but filled in by the payer.

Arbitrair appears on the Accounting information tab of Debtor/Creditor accounts.

2209 Arbitrair

Clieop

Clieop appears on the Automatic receipts and Automatic payments options in the F9: Batch processing option launched within Journal entry (F2) screens.

What it is: A Dutch-specific, legacy file format for batch payment processing (like the Dutch version of SEPA direct debit files). The name is an acronym.

Global Banking Identifiers

These terms—SWIFT, IBAN, and BIC—are the essential global standards for identifying banks and bank accounts, and they are crucial for both domestic and international electronic payments.

Here is a breakdown of each term and why they are necessary in a system like osFinancials5/TurboCASH5-3:

1. SWIFT

The term SWIFT is often used in a general sense to refer to the global network for transmitting secure financial messages, but it is also frequently used interchangeably with the bank's identifier code, the BIC.

- What it is: Society for Worldwide Interbank Financial Telecommunication. It's a vast global messaging system that banks use to send and receive information about financial transactions securely.
- When Used: It is required for international transfers outside of a specific region (like SEPA).
- Where it's Entered: In your system, it's entered in:
 - Setup -> Company info: To identify your own company's bank for outgoing/incoming international transfers.

2. BIC

- What it is: Bank Identifier Code. This is the standardized code that uniquely identifies a specific bank or financial institution worldwide. It is assigned by the SWIFT network, which is why it is often called the SWIFT Code.
- Format: It is an 8- or 11-character code (alphabetic and numeric).
 - Example: DEUTDEFF (8-character format for Deutsche Bank Germany).
- When Used: It's used alongside the IBAN to route payments to the correct destination bank.
- Where it's Entered: In your system, it's entered in:
 - Setup -> Company info: To identify your own bank for international payments.
 - Accounting information tab of Debtor/Creditor accounts: To identify the banks of your suppliers (Creditors) and customers (Debtors), allowing you to correctly route payments or direct debits.

3. IBAN

- What it is: International Bank Account Number. This is the standardized structure for defining a customer's bank account, designed to facilitate electronic payment processing across borders.
- Format: It is a unique string of up to 34 alphanumeric characters, composed of:
 - Country Code: 2 letters (e.g., DE for Germany, NL for Netherlands).
 - Check Digits: 2 numbers (used for local validation).
 - Bank Identifier (part of the local account number).
 - Basic Bank Account Number (BBAN).
- When Used: It is the standard identifier for transactions, especially within the SEPA zone (Europe), where it is often the only required identifier for cross-border transactions (replacing older domestic account numbers).

- Where it's Entered: In your system, it's entered in:
 - Setup -> Company info: To identify your own company's bank account.
 - Accounting information tab of Debtor/Creditor accounts: This is the most crucial location, as you need the IBANs of your trading partners to process electronic payments (Creditors) and direct debits (Debtors).

Acronyms in Banking

These acronyms in Banking should generally NOT be translated in your software's user interface, forms, or technical documentation.

These three terms are treated as technical standards or proper nouns within the global financial industry.

LabelID	Acronym	Stands For (For Reference)	Why It's Not Translated
906015	IBAN	International B ank Account N umber	This term is used globally, regardless of language. Translating it would make it unrecognizable.
906016	BIC	B ank Identifier C ode	This is the official code used globally, regardless of language.
906017	SWIFT	S ociety for W orldwide Interbank F inancial T elecommunication	This is the proper name of the organization.

Document types

The names of these document types for Sales documents (i.e. Invoices, Credit notes, Quotes, Delivery notes) and Purchase documents (i.e. Purchases, Supplier returns, Orders) are maintained in the following options:

- TYPES table: This table needs to be updated for each Set of Books as this is database specific. The names of these document types for Sales documents (i.e. Invoices, Credit notes, Quotes, Delivery notes) and Purchase documents (i.e. Purchases, Supplier returns, Orders) in the Types table should be singular as the 'TYPES.SDESCRIPTION' expression is used in universal document layout files. This will print and display the document name using the same document layout file. for all document types. Implications: If this is in the plural format, it would print Invoices on a single Invoice instead of Invoice.
- Language files: If you change the document name in the TYPES table, you need to align it with the translations in the language file. Your language file may include Singular or Plural forms of your document type depending on the context.

Paths to Menu Items (Use Arrow and Single Quotes)

The use of single quotes and the right-facing arrow (>) for navigation paths is mandatory. The arrow is much more intuitive than the old -> ASCII arrow.

- Format: 'Menu → Submenu' (e.g., 'Setup → Documents setup')
- Action: Review the following translations to align the path notation with the actual English display:

LabelID	NEW Path ()
696	Invalid next number! Change it in ' Setup Documents setup '

Buttons within language files

Enclosing button names in square brackets ([]) within message translations is a great choice. It sets a clear, bold boundary around the actionable text, making the instruction stand out.

- Format: [Button Name]
- Action: Review these labels for correctness and consistency in using the square brackets:

Spelling, Typos, Punctuation, and Shortcuts

Ensure all translated text is grammatically and mechanically correct, paying special attention to system-specific characters.

- Action: Perform a dedicated proofreading pass on the UI elements and report output.
- Goal: Correct all spelling mistakes, typographical errors, incorrect capitalization, and ensure punctuation follows the standard conventions of the target language.

Specific Punctuation Checks

Commas, Periods and Exclamation marks should be used appropriately according to the target language's grammatical rules.

Ampersand ' & ' Characters

This character is included in the text of your translation because it is a shortcut key for UI navigation (access key or mnemonic).

Do not remove the ampersand unless you are intentionally setting a new, different shortcut key, and ensure the shortcut letter is unique and valid for the control. For example, &File makes F the shortcut key.

Incomplete or Missing Translations

Translations that are incomplete or missing critical technical information pose a serious risk to application functionality and user understanding.

Issue	Description & Risk	Remedial Action
Missing Translation	The message is simply untranslated (e.g., still showing the English source text).	Ensure every Label ID in your language file has a corresponding translation.
Incomplete Information	The translated message is present but missing some critical information necessary for the user	Review the translation against the source text to ensure all instructions, variables, and technical elements are to act.	included.

Missing Placeholders	The translation omits dynamic elements like placeholders (<@APPNAME@> or %s) or shortcut characters (&).	Crucial: Verify that all dynamic placeholders (<@APPNAME@>, %s) and UI shortcut characters (&) from the source text are included in the correct position within the translated message.
Missing Formatting	The translation omits necessary formatting, such as square brackets around buttons ([OK]) or arrows in menu paths (' Setup Accounts').	Refer to the Standardized Formatting and Navigation guidelines and ensure all brackets, quotes, and arrows are correctly used.

Terminology and Conceptual Consistency Review

Ensure that terminology is consistent and accurate across the entire application, especially where concepts link different modules (UI labels, reports, and underlying database references).

- General Consistency & Core Modules
 - Verify consistent translation for foundational terms used across all modules.
 - Customer/Supplier Terminology: Is the term always "Customer" or "Debtor"? Is it always "Supplier" or "Creditor"? Do not mix these pairs.
 - Inventory Terminology: Is the item being tracked consistently translated as "Stock," "Inventory," or "Items"?
 - Tax Terminology: Is the tax consistently translated as the official local name (e.g., "VAT," "GST," "Sales Tax," "IVA," "MwSt," etc.)?
 - Specific Functional Consistency
 - Focus on specialized modules where consistent naming is essential for system function and reporting.

Functional Area	Consistency Requirement
Stock/Inventory Processing	Ensure translations for Batch , Lot , Serial , Location , and Warehouse are consistently applied and managed or displayed.
Reconciliation	Use a single, standard term for " Reconciliation " (e.g., of bank accounts or statements) across all modules and related reports.
Open Item Processing	Maintain consistency for terms related to open item tracking, such as " Allocations ," " Settlements ," and " Transactions " (which handle outstanding invoices).
Budgeting	Ensure terms for " Budget ," " Forecast ," and " Variance " are consistently applied throughout all modules. Confusion often occurs between "Budget" and similar planning tools like "Quotes."

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Orders & Backorders | Maintain distinct and consistent translations for " Order ," " Sales Order ," " Purchase Order ," and " Backorder " to separate future demand from current stock fulfillment. |
| Spreadsheets | As previously established, use terminology for " Spreadsheet " elements (e.g., cell, row, column) with common applications like Microsoft Excel in the target language. |
| Back-end Database References | Pay critical attention to text (often hidden in messages or system settings) that references table names . The translation of concepts like " Document Types " (e.g., "Invoice," "Quote") must adhere to the convention in the TYPES table and the UI. |
- Document Types: Ensure the terms used for documents are consistent across the UI, reports, and the database, particularly where confusion might arise:
 - Is the planning document called a "Quote" or a "Quotation"?
 - Is the Budget called a "Budget" or a "Forecast"?
 - Ensure the translation used for the singular document name in the TYPES table (as previously discussed) is consistently used when referring to a single instance of that document type throughout the UI.
 - Module/UI Labels: Review the main navigational labels to ensure similar concepts share the same root term:
 - If the Accounts Payable module is labeled "Suppliers," ensure related functions (like reporting) don't suddenly use the term "Creditors" without proper context.

Acronyms and specialized terms

Acronyms and specialized terms like POS (Point of Sale) and BOM (Bill of Materials) should be compliant and follow the target language's official, professional accounting and industry terminology when localizing software.

This is a critical requirement in professional accounting localization for several reasons:

- Legal Compliance: Official accounting and tax forms in the target country rely on standardized terminology. Misusing an acronym could lead to confusion or legal errors.
- Professional Clarity: Accountants and financial professionals expect to see the standard terms they use every day in their local language. Using an unfamiliar or transliterated term reduces the software's credibility and usability.
- User Training: Users are often trained using materials that use the local language's acronyms and terms. Consistency minimizes the learning curve.

Key Acronyms and Terms to Localize

When translating financial software, you must find the direct, professionally recognized equivalent for the target language:

English Term	Context	Localization Focus
POS (Point of Sale)	Retail, Sales	Use the official local acronym or phrase for retail transaction
BOM (Bill of Materials)	Manufacturing, Inventory	Use the official local acronym or phrase for the complete list for production.
VAT (Value-Added Tax)	Tax, Compliance	Must be translated to the official local tax name (e.g., GST, HS
GAAP	Accounting Standards	Translate to the locally accepted acronym for Generally Accepted (or its regional equivalent, e.g., IFRS).
COGS (Cost of Goods Sold)	Accounting, Income Statement	Use the standard local accounting term for this expense cate

Action for Translator: Always consult official government tax documentation, local accounting board standards, or leading professional accounting software manuals in the target language to verify the correct acronym and terminology.

Reviewing/Refreshing Your Translations

Once you have translated, customized, or localized your language file and closed the 'Customise languages' screen, the new translations will generally be reflected automatically in the osFinancials/TurboCASH UI interface.

In the following instances, you need to manually refresh the view to ensure the new translations take effect:

1. Refreshing Open Forms: If you have forms open (such as Debtors, Creditors, Stock, Documents, etc.), you must close them for the new translations to apply to those screens.
 - Action: Go to Tools -> Close active forms to close all currently open forms. The next time you open a form, the updated text will be displayed
2. Refreshing the Plugins Menu: To ensure that the Plugins menu (and any associated text) reflects the latest translations:
 - Action: Go to Tools -> Activate plugins and then simply close this screen. This forces the system to refresh the plugin names and related labels.

Reviewing and Correcting Your

Translations/Customizations/Localizations

Once you have translated, customized, or localized your language file, it's essential to perform a thorough review and correction process directly within the osFinancials/TurboCASH UI interface and all generated reports.

Quality Assurance checklist:

1. UI (User Interface) and Report Constraints: Check that all translated text fits correctly within the designated fields, buttons, and report columns/headers.
 - Action: Systematically navigate through all main windows, dialogue boxes, and generate and review all key reports (Income Statement, Balance Sheet, Trial Balance, Sales/Purchase journals, etc.).

- Goal: Check for labels, buttons, menu items, column headers, or report descriptions that are overflowing or truncated (cut off). This is a common issue when your translation is significantly longer than the original English source text.
2. Terminology and Inconsistencies: Ensure that you have used the correct and consistent terminology throughout the entire application, and crucially, that the terms used in the UI match those displayed in the reports.
- Action: Create a glossary of key terms and verify every instance of their translation in both the user interface and the final printed reports.
 - Key Terms to Check (Consistency):
 - Customer/Sales: Debtors, Customers, Sales, Quotes, Invoices, Delivery Notes.
 - Supplier/Purchases: Creditors, Suppliers, Purchases, Orders, Supplier Returns.
 - Inventory: Stock, Inventory, Items, Products.
 - Financial/Reporting: Document Types, Tax, VAT, GST, Spreadsheets, Budgets, Assets, Liabilities, Equity.
3. Spelling, Typos, and Punctuation: Even minor errors can undermine the professionalism and trustworthiness of the osFinancials/TurboCASH.
- Action: Perform a dedicated proofreading pass on the UI elements and report output.
 - Goal: Correct all spelling mistakes, typographical errors, incorrect capitalization, and ensure punctuation (commas, periods, quotation marks, etc.) follows the standard conventions of the target language.
4. Compliance and Legal Context: Ensure all translated and customized text, especially that which appears on statutory documents and reports, adheres to local legal and financial requirements.
- Action: Cross-reference translations of legal text, tax descriptions, and financial statement line items against local accounting standards (e.g., IFRS, GAAP).
 - Goal: Verify that translated legal disclaimers, document footers, or tax descriptions (required for tax returns) are legally accurate and compliant with the country's tax authority and reporting framework.
5. UI (User Interface) Constraints: Check that all translated text fits correctly within the designated fields and buttons.
- Action: Systematically navigate through all main windows, dialogue boxes, and reports.
 - Goal: Check for labels, buttons, menu items, or column headers that are overflowing or truncated (cut off). This is a common issue when your translation is significantly longer than the original English source text.
6. Terminology and Inconsistencies: Ensure that you have used the correct and consistent terminology throughout the entire application, especially for accounting and business-critical terms.
- Action: Create a glossary of key terms and verify every instance of their translation.
 - Key Terms to Check (Consistency):
 - Customer/Sales: Debtors, Customers, Sales, Quotes, Invoices, Delivery Notes.

- Supplier/Purchases: Creditors, Suppliers, Purchases, Orders, Supplier Returns.
 - Inventory: Stock, Inventory, Items, Products.
 - Financial/Reporting: Document Types, Tax, VAT, GST, Spreadsheets, Budgets, Assets, Liabilities, Equity.
7. Spelling, Typos, and Punctuation: Even minor errors can undermine the professionalism and trustworthiness of the osFinancials/TurboCASH.
- Action: Perform a dedicated proofreading pass, ideally using a grammar or spelling check tool where possible, or have a native speaker review the work.
 - Goal: Correct all spelling mistakes, typographical errors, incorrect capitalization, and ensure punctuation (commas, periods, quotation marks, etc.) follows the standard conventions of the target language.
8. Compliance and Legal Context: Ensure all translated and customized text adheres to local legal and financial requirements.
- Action: Cross-reference translations of legal text, tax descriptions, and financial statements against local accounting standards (e.g., IFRS, GAAP).
 - Goal: Verify that translated legal disclaimers, document footers, or tax descriptions are legally accurate and compliant with the country's tax authority and reporting framework.

Opening Balances

Opening Balances - Balance Sheet Accounts (Jan 1, 2026)

That is a critical step for starting any new set of accounting records! Since the Budget data you provided only covered Income and Expense movements, we need to establish the Opening Balances for all Balance Sheet Accounts (Assets, Liabilities, and Capital) as of January 1, 2026.

These opening balances will serve as the starting point (the T-account balances) for all the transactions we've planned for the next three months.

The fundamental accounting equation must be satisfied:

Assets=Liabilities+Capital (Equity)

Here are the recommended opening balances for your accounts on January 1, 2026:

CURRENT BANK ACCOUNT TRANSACTIONS 110-000

We will generate the simulated OFC/OFX bank import data for the Current Bank Account (B110000) for February and March 2026, using the previously determined actual transaction amounts.

This ensures you have a complete three-month set of bank data for your reconciliation demonstration.

OFC - Credit card transactions

CREDIT CARD ACCOUNT TRANSACTIONS 230-000

Just as we did for the Current Bank Account, we should also simulate an OFC/OFX import file for the Credit Card (G230000) for February 2026.

Although the credit card transactions are typically recorded via a General Journal entry (to debit the expense and credit the liability), generating the OFC/OFX file simulates the bank statement data the user would receive for the card, making the setup more realistic.

Since the credit card statement reports a Liability, the way the debits (expenses/increases in liability) and credits (payments/decreases in liability) are shown can be confusing. We will present the transactions as they would appear on a statement, increasing the balance.

Here is the simulated OFC/OFX data for the Credit Card Account (G230000) for February 2026.

Generated Credit Card Import Data (OFC/OFX Standard)

Month: February 2026

Date	Transaction Type	Description (Card Ref.)	Amount (R)	Actual Account (For Matching)	OFC/OFX Type
2026/02/05	Purchase	Dinner at Restaurant X	(550.00)	540020	CREDIT (Increases card balance/liability)
2026/02/18	Purchase	Tickets for Concert	(950.00)	600020	CREDIT (Increases card balance/liability)

Note: These two transactions total R 1,500.00, matching the R 1,500.00 increase in the Credit Card liability (G230000) recorded in the General Journal.

Corrections - Special character rendering in Translations

Setup Accounts - Translations vs Setup Journal types - Translations

The Setup -> Accounts - Translations tab - Displays the special characters correctly in the Translations tab and across the UI.

The Setup -> Journal types - translations button - Displays the special characters (All special characters (e.g., á, é, š, , õ, ü, ĩ, ,) are correctly represented using their Unicode entities to prevent font or system rendering issues.) correctly in the Translations tab and across the UI.

Setup: Accounts - Translations

- Location: Setup Accounts Translations tab.
- Behavior: The special characters display correctly both within the Translations tab and across the user interface (UI).

All special characters (e.g., á, é, š, , õ, ü, ĩ, ,) are correctly represented using their Unicode entities. This ensures consistent display within the Translations tab and across the entire UI, preventing font or system rendering issues.
